COME DOWN FOR AIR

As maître d's go, Caroline Kininmonth is an odd one. She keeps no waiters on rotation. Nor chefs or sommeliers. She doesn't even have a menu. That's where you come in. Among the vibrant walls and bold artworks of The Boathouse restaurant, you set the menu from whatever tickles your fancy on King Island. You bring what you want and make it how you like.

So if you've got a complaint about the food, take it up with yourself.
