

SWEAT THE SWEAT AWAY

TASMANIA

COME DOWN FOR AIR

It gets smelly and sore around here. That's to be expected, though. Can't have world-class mountain bike trails without a few cheerfully pungent bikers. Who knew flying downhill could work up such a sweat? Either way, a shower doesn't quite cover it. So some bright soul plonked a human steam cleaner on the pond nearby. Floating Sauna Lake Derby. A big bobbing box of humidity to soak the bends and bumps away. Just so you can go and do it all over again tomorrow.

But remember to wear a towel. This isn't Scandinavia.
